

Differential equations model different types of char

The values are scaled so the shapes can be compared.

